

MASTER OF EDUCATION IN EDUCATIONAL STUDIES

IB educators at all levels can be change agents who support robust learning communities and empower a culture of informed practice.

- Consider the challenges and opportunities in 21st century IB education
- Explore emergent, evidence-based research in educational improvement
- Consider the implications for your practice
- Plan and execute research to inform educational improvement

This programme fulfills the academic requirements for an IB Advanced Certificate in Leadership Research or an IB Advanced Certificate in Teaching and Learning Research

"The MES encouraged high levels of inquiry and research in a supportive, collaborative environment. With each course, I developed further insights in my professional inquiries that connected to the most current research in leadership and highly effective practices in IB world schools. Since graduation, I have been able to apply my new understandings about the unique qualities needed of IB educators and leaders in the Alberta context."

-Rosanne Boutin, ABIBS Past-President

Rise to the challenges and opportunities of facilitating educational improvement.

The Master of Education in Educational Studies (MES) is a two-year, part-time, course-based program for teachers, educational administrators, and educational leaders who want to enhance their knowledge and practice in the areas of leadership and school improvement related to IB programs.

To optimize the learning experience, the program is cohort-based. Coursework is structured to allow you to build your knowledge in an area of IB education that is of particular interest to you. The MES provides you with opportunities to develop educational research skills and apply them in your educational context.

THE PROGRAM

The Master of Education in Educational Studies (MES) is structured to facilitate studying while you work: the program is blended and part-time. Ten courses are completed in sequence with a cohort of IB educators.
